Castleknock/Clonsilla teens sing for Cystic Fibrosis Association

Teenage members of Castleknock/Clonsilla No Name Club are clearing their throats and preparing to sing and raise funds for The Cystic Fibrosis Association of Ireland. Teenagers from the youth club will be carol singing in Blanchardstown Shopping Centre on Wednesday, December 15th, from 5.30pm to 6.30pm.

The club is encouraging Christmas shoppers to support such a worthy organisation in the build-up to the festive season. The No Name Club meets at Castleknock Community Centre on a weekly basis to run fun events and activities for teenagers aged 15+. The Cystic Fibrosis Association of Ireland was set up in 1963 to increase knowledge and awareness of CF and to give advice and support to people with Cystic Fibrosis and their families.
